

Assisting a Person Experiencing Mental Incapacity

published 07/19/2021

One of the challenges we sometimes face in life is looking after friends or relatives who are no longer able to look after themselves. This could possibly be an elderly parent with dementia, a spouse that develops a psychiatric illness, a child with a developmental disability, or a friend injured in an accident.

Watch TDS lawyer Peter Sim explain the options for assisting a person with mental incapacity in Manitoba, including Enduring Powers of Attorney, Committeeship and the Vulnerable Persons Living with a Mental Disability Act This video is presented for informational purposes only.
